Sacred Heart Catholic School

For as long as I can remember, I have been creating art. Throughout the years I have excelled in my school's art program and have loved learning about and using new art techniques. I have always had a foundation rooted in creativity and art, and this really got to shine in highschool.

I have had the opportunity to enter many art shows and contests. Some of these include the Fort Worth Stock Show Art contest winning third place in sculpture since sophomore year and our school's TAPPS art contest winning various first through eighth place since freshman year. Outside of school I like to focus on different areas of art. You can frequently find me in my grandpa's workshop building wood furniture pieces or restoring antiques.

I also am passionate about interior design and like to help family, friends, and neighbors decorate for holidays. Keeping in mind my love of design, I am going to school for architecture at the University of Texas at Arlington. I hope to pursue a career that will put to use my eye for design and my love of creating.

I had a hard time pinpointing what I wanted to study in college. After debating between design school and architecture I landed on the latter. I thought this would give me a strong foundation for many different directions that I could take my artistry. As of now I hope to be a structural designer, but I can also see myself settling into something that is more creative and uses my hands; such as carpentry. This scholarship can be an aid in helping me through the expenses of college and help alleviate some of the stress of this financial burden. With this help, I can better focus on my degree work and gain a better education in the end.

In everyday life I see the beauty in things and enjoy it immensely. This scholarship can help me pursue a costly career that will help me try to provide others with this same joy that I get when seeing beauty. I want to create things that are beautiful and share them with everyone.
